

Q2.

The goal of the SDAL Data Science for the Public Good Student Fellow program is to inspire students to pursue science, including statistics, social and behavioral sciences, technology, engineering and math careers by engaging them in socially important research problems and demonstrating that contributions are needed from all degree levels. The primary focus will be at the interface of data analytics and understanding (modeling) the social condition - integrated human habitat, health, and well-being. DSPG Student Fellows will be part of vertically integrated interdisciplinary research teams. Students from all disciplines are welcome to apply.
